

Talk to focus on Civil War photos

The Onondaga Historical Association plans a series of noon-hour talks connected to its current exhibit, "Capturing the Conflict: How Artists Revealed the American Civil War."

The first of these "Lunchtime Lessons" is at 12:15 p.m. today on George Barnard, the Syracusan who photographed the Civil War for Matthew Brady.

The speaker will be Dennis Connor, curator of history at the OHA.
