

Cazenovia professor promotes '60s book

The Onondaga Historical Association will hold a book launch and talk 5 to 7 p.m. Nov. 9 for the release of John Robert Greene's new work "America in the Sixties."

Greene is a professor of history and humanities at Cazenovia College. He has written or edited 13 books including "The Limits of Power: The Nixon and Ford Administrations."

In "America in the Sixties," Greene synthesizes 30 years of research, writing and teaching on the most turbulent decade.

The event at the OHA, 321 Montgomery St., Syracuse, is free and open to the public.
