After completing and seeing the SUNY College of Environmental Science and Forestry 100 year anniversary installation located in the ever so beautiful Moon library on SU’s campus, another member of the Onondaga Historical Association called upon assante design to help with their 100 Year Anniversary Traveling Timeline for The Girl Scouts. The installed traveling exhibit will be educating spectators and visitors all over The United States. The design consisted of many historical images and documentation placed into a time-line format that not only educated the public on the history of the Girl Scouts but also gave an aesthetic feel to the images. This project allowed us to display our artistic talents but also allowed us to become even more involved in another community project here in Syracuse. If this traveling exhibit comes close to your hometown over the next year on the road, please make time to see it if at all possible.

Note: This is the second installation/design/install project that assante design has worked closely with Media Finishings. Their attention to detail is top-notch and end results are perfectly done, not to mention the turn-around of these artisans being spot on... a big “thank you” goes out to Peter for working his magic in order to produce a beautiful piece worthy of mentioning.
JOURNEY OF A LIFETIME
A CELEBRATION OF 100 YEARS OF GIRL SCOUTING

March 12, 2012 marks the 100th Anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States. Today, the opportunity for Girl Scout membership exists in every part of the country. The need to make this possible has spanned one hundred years and involved millions of girls and women. The history of service and growth developed as a result of the organizations' continuous focus on the needs of girls and their families, its inclusive programming, and willingness to change with the times.

The Girl Scout movement began in the 1910s when Juliette Gordon Low founded the first Girl Scout troop. The Girl Scout program evolved through the years, adapting to meet the changing needs of girls and their families. Today, Girl Scouts serve girls of all backgrounds and abilities, providing opportunities for personal growth and leadership development.

In the Beginning: 1912 – 1937
In the early part of the 20th century, the United States was in a time of rapid change, and the Girl Scout movement was a significant part of that change. The movement was founded by Juliette Gordon Low in 1912, and it quickly grew to include thousands of girls across the country. The Girl Scouts of the United States of America was formed in 1937, bringing together the various local Girl Scout organizations into one national organization.

The Promise and the Laws
Many of the characteristics of Girl Scouting that are familiar today were established early on. The Girl Scout Promise and Law, for example, were developed to guide Girl Scout behavior and to help girls make moral decisions. The Promise included the statements, "On my honor, I will try to be a girl scout of integrity and reverence." and the Law included the statement, "On my honor, I will do my best to help other people and to do something helpful and kind every day and at every opportunity.

Juliette Gordon Low Founded First American Troop, 1912
Juliette Gordon Low was a strong and determined individual who had a vision for creating an organization that would empower girls to become leaders and make a positive impact in their communities. She believed that girls should be provided with opportunities to learn important life skills, to develop their potential, and to become leaders for a lifetime.

The following years, the building organization continued to grow and made a positive impact on the lives of girls and women across the country. Thanks to the vision and dedication of Juliette Gordon Low and countless other Girl Scouts and Girl Scout leaders, the Girl Scouting movement has continued to thrive and evolve, providing girls with the tools and resources they need to become confident, capable, and compassionate leaders in their communities and in the world.

The Girl Scout Promise: On my honor, I will try to be a girl scout of integrity and reverence.

The Girl Scout Law: On my honor, I will do my best to help other people and to do something helpful and kind every day and at every opportunity.
