Syracuse (WSYR-TV) -- The Onondaga Creekwalk may look slightly different by year's end.

On Monday, the Syracuse Common Council will vote on approval of putting up historical signage along the walkway. The goal is to make the Creekwalk more than just an enjoyable walk on a nice day. It could soon be an opportunity to learn about our local heritage as well.

The council would work with the Onondaga Historical Association to determine what would be written on the signs.

If approved, the goal is to have signs up by late summer or early fall.
