

Preservation Corp. is honored for project help

Staff report

The Preservation Association of Central New York recently honored The Community Preservation Corp. for financing local historic rehabilitation projects.

Some of the projects the preservation corporation financed include these in Syracuse:

■ The Lofts at Franklin Square (105 Solar St.)

■ The Lofts on Willow (230 W. Willow St.)

■ Dey's Centennial Plaza (401 S. Salina St.)

■ The former Kirk Hotel (121-129 W. Fayette St.)

■ The Butler Building (315 S. Clinton St.).

The Preservation Association also honored the Onondaga Historical Association, the Landmark Theatre, the former DeRuyter Central School and the African and Caribbean Market.

The group also gave out the following awards:

■ Pat Earle Award: National Grid Building (formerly known as the Niagara Mohawk Building).

■ Jasena R. Foley Education Award: Doug Armstrong.

■ Harley J. McKee Award: Bob Shenfeld.

■ Wilma T. Auer Award: Michael Flusche.

■ Tender Loving Care Awards: 717 N. McBride St. and the Syracuse Pattern Book, Brennan Stained Glass Studios, Dey's Plaza, Baldwinsville First United Methodist Church, Downtown Lighting Project and the Butler Building.

The association also introduced the new Paul Malo Award, recognizing all the players involved in the creation of the Creekwalk in Syracuse.
