This year's Downtown Living Tour will feature ten stops--eight residences, plus the Erie Canal Museum and the Onondaga Historical Association, which will offer perspectives on living in downtown Syracuse through the years.

The Downtown Committee is hoping for over 2,000 tour participants. Last year they had 1,900. The self-guided walking tours will include a stretch on the Creekwalk, which will feature strolling musicians, according to the Downtown Committee's Lisa Romeo. There will also be a free shuttle for non-walkers.

Tickets are discounted before the day of the tour, which starts and ends at Dinosaur Bar-be-Que. For more information, 422-8284 or www.downtownsyracuse.com/downtownlivingtour
