

syracuse.com

Historian to speak Sunday at Onondaga Historical Association

Published: Friday, October 05, 2012, 5:25 PM Updated: Friday, October 05, 2012, 6:22 PM

Charles Ellis, The Post-Standard
By

Syracuse, N.Y. -- A City University of New York historian plans to speak Sunday at the Onondaga Historical Association.

The subject of Robert Speigelman's lecture is "The Wild, Wild East: New York's Drama of Westward Expansion." The talk is scheduled for 2 p.m. at the OHA headquarters, 321 Montgomery St., Syracuse.

The lecture is presented in cooperation with the New York Council for the Humanities. It is free and open to the public.

Speigelman is president of Real-View Media LLC. As a sociologist, multimedia artist and writer, Speigelman presents widely on New York, Iroquois, Irish and environmental themes. He is the founder of SullivanClinton.com and Derryveagh.com.

© 2012 syracuse.com. All rights reserved.