SUNY Oswego assistant professor
By Jaclyn Schildkraut
Oregonian later clarified that free zone (despite that The activists argued that the shoot-tighter regulations. Gun rights to the nation, lobbied for Barack Obama in his remarks cates, including President surfaced as a causal factor for story, the culpability of violent moved on to the next news just a small fraction of that. was done. A few edited excerpts from the letters:

■ Running, Hide, Fight and the locked door. Strategies, such as Run, Hide, Fight and the A.L.I.C.E training model (alert, lockdown, inform, counter, evacuate) are being implemented in schools across the nation and active shooter drills are conducted today with similar frequency to those aimed at responding to fires or natural disasters.
Research also tells us, how- ever, that to create effective policies and procedures, we must know what the problem

OUR USUAL RESPONSE TO MASS SHOOTINGS ISN'T WORKING
By Janet Schildkraut
The Post-Standard
Last week, Upstate Community College in Rome, N.Y., became the latest site of a tragic mass shooting. In the immediate aftermath, our national dis- course filled with the usual suspects. Gun control advo- cates, including President Barack Obama in his remarks to the nation, lob- bied for tougher legislation. Gun rights activists argue that the shoot- ing was a result of a gun-free zone (despite that The Oregonian later claimed that the school was not, in fact, a gun-free zone). Nearly as unanimously, mental illness was stated as a culprit. And even through the smoke, despite that the nation largely has not moved on from the next news- story, the culpability of violent media such as the “Call of Dut...
Arguably, the most successful solutions ground themselves in empirical and academic information, emotion, or a knee-jerk reaction presentable. I cannot stress enough that the number of events that are taking place. I needed an extra box to hold them for instance, from Mary Jane Connell Slone, of Georgia, and Kay Keller, of Jamesville, has vivid memories of her mother. She married her date that night. … I also fell in love with my date that night. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowding, a tailor at the hotel in the 1920s. My grandfather cut the hair of many celebrities (and himself) – in the middle of the night – dashing man in uniform and the young lady he dined with. When World War II erupted, we were married for 49 years. Walter Dowd...